

Airl gives us the type of listening experience we longed for as young people growing up here in Southern California. Our children (one in college and one in middle school) also listen and are informed on and stay connected to other congregations in our valley by being notified through Airl of the many activities our local church's are offering. We do not listen to Mexican music, rap, country, or whatever else that may be transmitted by a LPFM broadcast. We would feel that once again we would be forced to accept something we had not paid for and did not desire. Airl is a station that is extremely responsible in it's programming and it's mission is to edify it's listeners not agitate, frustrate, anger, or motivate to do things dishonoring to family and God. The station promotes a upbeat family lifestyle. Also, pride and love of one's community. Replacing that with programming that promotes alcohol abuse (beer commercials) or whatever else is being sold on secular radio would not benefit our community. Once again let us state that Airl has programming that is outstanding, informative, and pleasing to those of us in this community who cherish music and teaching free from foul language, unacceptable lyrics and commercials that do nothing to promote peace and unity in our community. That is what is in the public interest!
